Todd Nelson is in his second season as head coach of the Hershey Bears in 2023-24 after leading the team to its 12th Calder Cup championship last spring. Nelson, who also won a title with Grand Rapids in 2017, joins Bun Cook and John Paddock as the only men to guide two different franchises to Calder Cup wins.

Nelson's Bears enter the All-Star break with a mark of 36-8-0-2 (.804), a pace that would surpass the 1992-93 Binghamton Rangers (.775) for the best single-season record in AHL history.

In his nine previous seasons as an AHL head coach with Oklahoma City (2010-15), Grand Rapids (2015-18) and Hershey (2022-23), Nelson has amassed 389 victories – good for 8th place all-time – including seven 40-win seasons, four conference finals appearances and those two Calder Cups. He was also an assistant coach with Grand Rapids (2002-03) and Chicago (2006-08), winning a title with the Wolves in 2008.

In the National Hockey League, Nelson has served as an assistant coach with the Atlanta Thrashers (2008-10), Edmonton Oilers (2014-15) and Dallas Stars (2018-22), as well as a stint as head coach of the Oilers.

Nelson played 887 professional games, including 306 in the AHL, and won a Calder Cup with the Portland Pirates in 1994, making him one of three people (Mike Stothers, Bob Woods) ever to win AHL championships as a player, assistant and head coach.

He skated in a total of 267 AHL games before retiring in 2018 and becoming an assistant coach with Cleveland.

Vogelhuber is the first coach to represent a Cleveland team at the AHL All-Star Game since Jack Gordon in 1959.

Graham led the Stars to a combined 35-33-5-2 record during the abbreviated 2019-20 and 2020-21 seasons, then guided the club to a berth in the 2022 Calder Cup Playoffs during his first full campaign as head coach and to a Central Division title in 2022-23.

Before joining the Stars organization, Graham spent seven seasons with the ECHL's Idaho Steelheads, including four (2015-19) as the team's head coach.

Graham played four seasons at Mercyhurst College before turning pro, spending parts of three seasons in the ECHL and the Southern Professional Hockey League.

Trent Cull is in his first season as head coach of the Calgary Wranglers after being named to the post on July 17, 2023. He previously served as head coach of the Vancouver Canucks' AHL affiliates in Utica (2017-21) and Abbotsford (2021-22), as well as the first half of the 2022-23 season as an assistant in Vancouver.

Cull was an assistant with the AHL's Syracuse Crunch from 2006 to 2010 and again from 2013 to 2017, a stint that culminated in a trip to the Calder Cup Finals. In between he was head coach of the Sudbury Wolves (OHL) for three seasons.

Cull played 10 seasons of pro hockey as a defenseman from 1994-2004, including 435 games in the AHL with the St. John's Maple Leafs, Houston Aeros, Springfield Falcons, Wilkes-Barre/Scranton Penguins and Syracuse Crunch.

Wayne Thomas — Eastern Conference Honorary Captain

Wayne Thomas spent 45 seasons in professional hockey as a player, coach and executive, beginning with his rookie season as a goaltender for the AHL's Montreal Voyageurs in 1970-71. His 11-year playing career included a Calder Cup championship with Nova Scotia in 1972 as well as 243 games in the NHL with Montreal, Toronto and the New York Rangers.

Upon his retirement in 1981, Thomas joined the Rangers' staff as one of the first goaltending coaches in pro hockey, and would later work with prospect goaltenders in the Chicago Blackhawks and St. Louis Blues organizations. Thomas went on to spend 22 years with the San Jose Sharks, where he served as an assistant coach and later assistant general manager and vice president as well as GM of the franchise's American Hockey League affiliates in Kentucky, Cleveland and Worcester.

Dan Boyle — Western Conference Honorary Captain

Undrafted out of Miami University, Dan Boyle was an up-and-coming prospect when he spent most of his first two professional seasons skating for the American Hockey League's Kentucky Thoroughblades and Louisville Panthers. The defenseman totaled 99 points and a plus-51 rating over 117 AHL contests, earning a spot on the AHL All-Rookie Team in 1998-99, garnering Second Team AHL All-Star honors in both 1998-99 and 1999-2000, and participating in two AHL All-Star Classics.

Boyle went on to play 1,093 games in the National Hockey League, where he won a Stanley Cup with the Tampa Bay Lightning in 2004 and later starred for six seasons with the San Jose Sharks. He was twice voted a Second Team NHL All-Star, and captured a gold medal with Canada at the 2010 Olympics in Vancouver.

HISTORY OF THE AHL ALL-STAR CLASSIC

The AHL All-Star Classic has roots dating all the way back to the infancy of the league. Since being resurrected in 1995, the American Hockey League All-Star Classic has evolved into a mid-season showcase event for the outstanding young talent in the sport: Approximately 95 percent of the players who have participated in the Classic have seen action in the NHL.

1941-42 AHL All-Star Game
February 3, 1942 - Cleveland Arena - Cleveland, Ohio
East All-Stars 5, West All-Stars 4

The American Hockey League's first All-Star Game was held in 1942 and featured an East/West split of the 10-team circuit. Thanks to a crowd of 3,580 fans, nearly $5,000 was netted from the proceeds of the evening to aid soldiers from both Canada and the United States who were fighting overseas.

Norm Burns of the New Haven Eagles scored the first All-Star goal in AHL history, and later added a second goal and an assist to lead the East side to a 5-4 victory. The game was tied at 1-1 until late in the second period, when Springfield's Pete Kelly put the East back in front. Each team than scored three times in the third period, with the East team building a 5-2 lead before the West scored at 18:31 and 18:53 to make it close.

Providence's Bun Cook coached the East All-Stars to victory, while his brother Bill Cook was behind the bench for the West squad.

1954-55 AHL All-Star Game
October 27, 1954 – Hershey Sports Arena – Hershey, Pa.
AHL All-Stars 7, Cleveland Barons 3

When the AHL All-Star Game was reborn during the 1954-55 season, the AHL adopted the same format as the National Hockey League, pitting the defending Calder Cup champions against a team of All-Stars from the rest of the league.

The game was held at the Hershey Sports Arena (now known as Hersheypark Arena), and Dunc Fisher of the hometown Bears was the star of the show. Fisher scored three times and added an assist as the AHL All-Stars defeated the defending champion Cleveland Barons, 7-3.

Fisher's Hershey teammate Arnie Kullman added a goal and three assists, and Springfield's Harry Pidhirny scored twice, as the AHL All-Stars peppered future Hall of Famer Emile Francis with 46 shots at the Cleveland net. Frank Mathers and Willie Marshall each recorded two assists.

Cleveland's Fred Glover opened the scoring just 45 seconds into the contest, but the AHL All-Stars would race to a 5-1 lead after two periods. Pittsburgh's Gil Mayer and Hershey's Gordie Henry split the duties in net for the All-Stars.

1955-56 AHL All-Star Game
January 10, 1956 – The Gardens – Pittsburgh, Pa.
AHL All-Stars 4, Pittsburgh Hornets 4 (OT)

The All-Star Game was moved to mid-season in 1955-56 as the defending Calder Cup champion Pittsburgh Hornets hosted the AHL All-Stars.

The Hornets spent much of the evening playing come-from-behind hockey. Despite taking a 1-0 lead midway through the first period, Pittsburgh trailed 3-1 before Bob Hassard scored with 18 seconds left in the second, and Joe Klukay netted his second goal of the game to tie the score early in the third.

Ken Wharram, on his way to a 90-point season with Buffalo, put the All-Stars back in front, but the Hornets weren't done. Hornets coach Howie Meeker pulled goalie Gil Mayer in favor of an extra attacker, and Willie Marshall scored with 1:05 remaining to tie the score at 4-4. A 10-minute overtime period decided nothing, and the 1955-56 All-Star Game ended as the only tie in event history.

The game actually featured 20 minutes in penalties and eight power plays (four aside), both AHL All-Star records.

1956-57 AHL All-Star Game
October 23, 1956 – Rhode Island Auditorium – Providence, R.I.
Providence Reds 4, AHL All-Stars 0

Less than two weeks after the start of the 1956-57 season, the defending champion Providence Reds hosted a team of AHL All-Stars at the Rhode Island Auditorium. Johnny Bower, who led Providence to a four-game sweep of Cleveland in the 1956 finals, was the story on this night.

Bower finished with 47 saves against the potent All-Stars, including 22 in the second period, to post the only shutout in AHL All-Star history. The Reds' 4-0 victory was the first win in the series for the defending champions over an AHL All-Star team.

Jim Bartlett led Providence's offense with a goal and two assists. Camille Henry, who scored 50 goals with the Reds the previous year, tallied a goal after being loaned to Providence for the game by the New York Rangers.

1957-58 AHL All-Star Game
October 6, 1957 – War Memorial – Rochester, N.Y.
AHL All-Stars 5, Cleveland Barons 2

Due to the tremendous support received by the Rochester Americans during their expansion 1956-57 season, the War Memorial was selected to host the 1957-58 AHL All-Star Game. The Amerks lost to the Cleveland Barons in the 1957 Calder Cup Finals.

After a scoreless first period, the All-Stars took a lead on a goal by Rochester's Paul Masnick, who would wind up spending the entire 1957-58 season with the Toronto Maple Leafs. After Bill Shvetz and Dan Poliziani gave the Barons a 2-1 lead through two periods, the AHL All-Stars took over.

Jimmy Anderson of Springfield scored a pair of third-period goals, Willie Marshall netted the game-winning tally and Dunc Fisher scored his fourth career All-Star goal as the AHL All-Stars posted a 5-2 victory.

1958-59 AHL All-Star Game
January 15, 1959 – Hershey Sports Arena – Hershey, Pa.
Hershey Bears 5, AHL All-Stars 2

For the first time, AHL fans voted for members of the AHL All-Star team as the Hershey Bears hosted the event for the second time. Fans selected a First Team and Second Team, and Cleveland's Jack Gordon and Buffalo's Bobby Kirk rounded out the roster.

After most of the first period went by scoreless, Larry Zeidel got the Bears on the board at 19:42. Midway through the second, Bob Solinger beat Buffalo goaltender Marcel Paille with what remains the only shorthanded goal in AHL All-Star history, and Ed Stankiewicz upped Hershey's lead to 3-0 by the end of the frame.

It was 4-0 before Rochester's Cecil Hoekstra scored on a power play to get the All-Stars on the board and end Bobby Perreault's shutout bid. With Zeidel and Howie Yanosik leading the way with a goal and an assist each, Hershey rolled to a 5-2 victory.

Perreault finished with 22 saves, while Paille and Rochester's Gerry McNeil combined for 23 saves in net for the All-Stars.

December 10, 1959 – Eastern States Coliseum – West Springfield, Mass.
Springfield Indians 8, AHL All-Stars 3

The Hershey Bears were the defending Calder Cup champions in 1959-60, but because the Bears hosted the game the year before, and the Indians were the only one of the original six teams yet to host the game or play against a team of All-Stars, Springfield was given the honor. (The decision proved to be a good one – the Indians went on to claim the 1960 championship.)

The AHL All-Stars jumped out to a 2-0 lead on goals by Cleveland's Fred Glover and Buffalo's Larry Wilson in the first 9:45 of the game. But Ian Cushenan got Springfield on the board 62 seconds later, and the Indians were off to the races. Dennis Olson tied the score with the first of his two goals, and Harry Pidhirny put the Indians up 3-2 after two periods.

The home team scored five more times in the final stanza and cruised to an 8-3 victory over the All-Stars. Bill Sweeney, who would win three straight AHL scoring titles from 1961-63, picked up two goals and an assist for the Indians, and Bruce Cline (1g, 2a), Parker MacDonald (3a) and Bill McCreary (3a) each pitched in with three points also. Brian Kilrea, who would go on to become the most successful Canadian junior coach in history, notched two assists.

Lorne "Gump" Worsley was tested by the AHL All-Stars, and finished with 36 saves for Springfield. Bobby Perreault of Hershey stopped 13 shots, but the Indians did most of their damage against Rochester's Ed Chadwick, who allowed six goals on 23 shots.

1995 Dodge AHL All-Star Game
January 17, 1995 – Providence Civic Center – Providence, R.I.
Canada AHL All-Stars 6, U.S. AHL All-Stars 4

In his first season at the helm, AHL President David Andrews resurrected the league's All-Star Game in 1994-95 and awarded the honor of hosting the first renewal of the event to the Providence Bruins.

The new format of the game saw players from the AHL's United States-based teams competing against players from the league's Canadian teams. The head coach of the defending Calder Cup champions was automatically named to coach one team, with the other coach coming from the team with the best points percentage at a designated deadline prior to the game. Fans voted for the starting lineups of both sides.

The AHL announced an affiliation with ESPN to produce and televise the game, and with TSN and RDS in Canada joining the partnership, the league had the first national broadcast exposure for its showcase event.

Despite having just six franchises to choose its All-Stars from, the Canadian squad had the firepower to post a 6-4 victory in front of 11,909 fans at a sold-out Providence Civic Center. Defensemen accounted for each of the game's first four goals, and MVP Ralph Intranuovo broke a 2-2 tie midway through the second period to put Canada on top for good.

Dwayne Roloson stopped all 11 shots he faced to earn the victory in net, as Canada's goaltenders combined to make 39 saves on 43 U.S. shots.

HISTORY OF THE AHL ALL-STAR CLASSIC

1996 AHL All-Star Classic

U.S. AHL All-Stars 14, Canada AHL All-Stars 12 (Skills)
U.S. AHL All-Stars 6, Canada AHL All-Stars 5 (Game)

As the AHL celebrated its 60th anniversary, the AHL All-Star Game returned to venerable Hersheypark Arena, site of the event in 1954 and 1959. The showcase was re-named the AHL All-Star Classic, and introduced the first AHL Skills Competition, held the day before the All-Star Game.

The Reese's AHL Skills Competition featured events such as shooting accuracy, puck control and rapid fire. St. John's defenseman Jamie Heward registered 99.7 miles per hour on the radar gun in the hardest shot event, and Cape Breton's Ralph Intranuovo won the fastest skater competition with a lap of 13.683 seconds; both marks still stand as AHL records. The U.S. won the Skills Competition by a score of 14-12.

Looking to make it a clean sweep of the All-Star Classic, the U.S. AHL All-Stars spotted Canada a lead just 29 seconds into the game, and then scored five times themselves before the first period was over. Wes Walz, who would earn MVP honors, notched a goal and two assists in the opening period, and the U.S. survived a late Canadian attack to earn a 6-5 victory.

The defending Calder Cup champion Albany River Rats were well-represented, with head coach Robbie Ftorek leading a U.S. AHL All-Star club that included Steve Sullivan, Ricard Persson, Brad Bombardir, Geordie Kinnear and Mike Dunham. St. John's head coach Tom Watt had six of his Maple Leafs on his Canadian squad, including starting goaltender Marcel Cousineau.

1997 Chrysler AHL All-Star Classic

World AHL All-Stars 18, Canadian AHL All-Stars 9 (Skills)
World AHL All-Stars 3, Canadian AHL All-Stars 2 (SO) (Game)

The first AHL All-Star Classic to be played in Canada introduced a new format, and wound up being one of the most exciting games in the event's history.

For the first time, the AHL's mid-season showcase pitted Canadian-born players against those from outside Canada, dubbed the World AHL All-Stars. The World squad cruised to an 18-9 victory in the Skills Competition, setting the stage for a competitive All-Star Game.

A sold-out Harbour Station in Saint John welcomed the AHL's brightest stars, and it was the goaltenders who outshined everyone else. The six netminders combined to stop 84 of 88 shots as the teams skated to a 2-2 tie through three 20-minute periods and a five-minute overtime. Portland's Robb Stauber led the way, stopping all 20 Canadian shots in the second frame.

The AHL borrowed a page from international competition and went to a shootout to determine the winner. Craig Charron and Chris Ferraro scored on the World team's first two attempts, and Tomas Vokoun denied the hometown Flames' Marty Murray on Canada's fifth and final shot, as the World AHL All-Stars prevailed 2-1 in the shootout, earning a 3-2 victory in the All-Star Game. Vokoun was named the game's MVP, making 19 saves on 20 shots (including seven in overtime), and then shutting the door on four of the Canadians' five shootout attempts.

1998 AHL All-Star Classic

PlanetUSA AHL All-Stars 13, Canadian AHL All-Stars 8 (Skills)

With the NHL suspending play for the Olympic Games in Nagano, the AHL moved its All-Star Classic to February and headed to the historic Onondaga County War Memorial for the 1998 edition of the event. The format remained the same, with the Canadian AHL All-Stars taking on the newly-named PlanetUSA AHL All-Stars. Adding spice to the 1998 AHL All-Star Classic was the fierce Mid-Atlantic Division rivalry between the two coaches: Bob Hartley of the defending Calder Cup champion Hershey Bears, and Hall of Famer Bill Barber of the Philadelphia Phantoms.

The PlanetUSA team once again claimed the Skills Competition, by a 13-8 margin. Jamie Heward became a two-time winner of the hardest shot event, clocking a shot at 99.3 miles per hour, and Phantoms goaltender Brian Boucher won the goaltending portion of the event, stopping 13 of 14 shots in the rapid fire and breakaway relay.

The 1998 All-Star Game proved to be the opposite of the low-scoring defensive gem turned in the previous season. The PlanetUSA All-Stars had a 3-0 lead less than six minutes into the game, but the Canadian team needed less than a period to turn a 6-2 deficit into a 10-6 lead. By the midway point of the third, PlanetUSA had evened the score at 10-10.

Peter Zezel scored his second goal of the game with 8:31 remaining, and Scott Langkow did the rest, finishing with 22 third-period saves as the Canadian AHL All-Stars held on for an 11-10 victory. The two teams set 12 All-Star records in the game, including most total scored (21) and total shots (106). All told, 31 of the 39 skaters got on the scoresheet, with no one recording more than two goals or three points.

The First Union Center in Philadelphia, home of the NHL's Flyers, served as the site of the 1999 First Union AHL All-Star Classic, hosted by the defending Calder Cup champion Philadelphia Phantoms. For the first time in four tries, the Canadian AHL All-Stars earned victory in the IcePro AHL All-Star Skills Competition, winning the event 15-12.

A crowd of 14,120 fans, then an AHL All-Star record, witnessed the fourth consecutive one-goal margin in the All-Star Game. The PlanetUSA AHL All-Stars took a 3-1 lead into the third period, but needed a Valentin Morozov goal with 1:18 remaining in regulation to force a 4-4 tie. PlanetUSA then weathered a Canadian power play in overtime, and for the second time in three years, the AHL All-Star Game headed to a shootout.

It was déjà vu once the shootout began, as Chris Ferraro netted the game-winning goal, just as he did in 1997. This time, he beat Hamilton teammate Steve Passmore, as PlanetUSA's shooters edged their Canadian counterparts, 2-1, giving the home team a 5-4 victory. Jean-Marc Pelletier of the Phantoms was named MVP, as he turned aside 17 of 18 Canadian shots in the first period.

More than 42 years after hosting the 1957 All-Star Game, the refurbished Blue Cross Arena at the Rochester War Memorial was the site of the 2000 Kodak AHL All-Star Classic. The PlanetUSA AHL All-Stars won the Skills Competition, 17-12, for their fourth victory in five years. But the Canadian team stole the show in the main event.

Kentucky's Miikka Kiprusoff, who won the goaltending portion of the Skills Competition on Sunday evening, allowed four goals on 15 shots in the first period on Monday afternoon, and the Canadian AHL All-Stars raced to a 6-0 lead before Rochester-area native Marty Reasoner finally got PlanetUSA on the board at 11:32 of the second.

The Canadians' balanced attack saw 17 of their 19 skaters record a point, and game MVP Martin Brochu turned in the best All-Star goaltending performance since Johnny Bower's shutout in October 1956, stopping all 23 shots faced in the first period.

A crowd of 10,588 fans watched the game in person, and the event was once again televised on ESPN2, TSN, RDS and numerous regional sports networks, providing international coverage across North and Central America.

There were countless story lines as the 2001 First Union AHL All-Star Classic unfolded in Wilkes-Barre, Pa. The hometown Penguins, in their second year in the AHL, had already sold out their entire home schedule for the remainder of the regular season and were on their way to an appearance in the Calder Cup Finals. But hours before Sunday's All-Star Skills Competition, Pittsburgh traded Wilkes-Barre/Scranton captain John Slaney to Philadelphia in exchange for Kevin Stevens. Slaney, who had been voted a starter for the Canadian squad, would soon become a member of the arch-rival Philadelphia Phantoms, and the AHL's showcase event became Wilkes-Barre's chance to bid farewell to their departing hero.

An emotional ovation greeted Slaney during the player introductions before the Skills Competition, as he hit the ice in his Penguins jersey for the last time. Portland's Mark Murphy (96.8 mph) won the hardest shot event, helping PlanetUSA to a 16-8 victory, their fifth win in six years. In Monday's All-Star Game, the Canadian AHL All-Stars erased early 2-0 and 3-2 deficits, and led 6-4 after the first period. Slaney sent the sell-out crowd of 8,314 into a frenzy with a second-period goal, giving Canada a 9-5 edge.

PlanetUSA stormed back, and head coaches John Paddock and Bill Armstrong, of rivals Hartford and Providence, respectively, saw their teams knotted at 10-10 with time winding down. Then, with 4:54 to play, Bruins forward Eric Manlow, playing for Paddock's Canadian team, beat Wolf Pack and PlanetUSA goaltender Vitali Yeremeyev to break the tie, and Canada held on for an 11-10 victory. Slaney, who finished with a goal and two assists, was named MVP of the game. Manlow finished with a goal and three assists, Penguin Greg Crozier had a goal and two assists, and St. John's forward Bobby House scored twice. Louisville's Denis Shvidki set All-Star records with four assists and five points to lead PlanetUSA.

The red carpet was rolled out for the 2002 AHL All-Star Classic, and the event had a decidedly Canadian flavor. The people of St. John's, Nfld., lived up to their hospitable reputation and served as gracious hosts for the event in North America's easternmost city.

Sold-out crowds at the brand new Mile One Stadium cheered the home team to a sweep of the week's events, beginning with a convincing 21-9 rout in Wednesday's Skills Competition. Canadian netminders Neil Little and Travis Scott shared the goaltenders' competition title, stopping 17 of 19 shots apiece, while Providence's Jonathan Girard became the first player to win both the Hardest Shot (99.0 mph) and Fastest Skater (14.262 sec.) events.

With the Olympic Games underway in Salt Lake City, the NHL had shut down its season, allowing the AHL All-Star Game to take center stage on Thursday night. The Canadian AHL All-Stars jumped out to leads of 3-0 and 6-2, but the PlanetUSA squad scored four quick goals early in the third period to take a 10-8 lead. Canada rebounded, snapping a 10-10 tie on Tom Kostopoulos's goal with just 1:31 remaining, then holding on for a 13-11 victory. The game was the highest-scoring in AHL All-Star history, and saw no fewer than 18 All-Star records set or tied. Cleveland's Mike Craig and hometown Maple Leafs hero Jeff Farkas each scored three goals, recording the first All-Star hat tricks since 1955. Craig added two assists for a record-tying five points, and earned the game's MVP honors.

Manchester defenseman Rich Brennan was selected to captain the PlanetUSA team and was voted a starter in fan balloting, and joined Fred Glover and Dunc Fisher as the only six-time AHL All-Stars by playing the game's first shift despite a broken wrist.

As the city of Portland celebrated 25 years as home to the American Hockey League, the AHL returned the All-Star Classic to New England for the first time since 1995. The Canadians took to the ice looking to repeat their two-day sweep of the skills competition and game.

Chicago Wolves defenseman Kurtis Foster, an injury replacement on the Canadian roster, proved his worth in the hardest shot event by registering 101.0 miles an hour, shattering the league's seven-year-old record. Rookie phenom Jason Spezza claimed the puck control relay, Justin Papineau won the fastest skater competition and Trent Hunter took the accuracy shooting, leading Canada to a 15-13 victory on the day.

Three months after the tragic death of his wife Jennifer from cancer, Pirates forward Chris Ferraro served as co-captain of the PlanetUSA team with his brother Peter in front of their hometown Portland fans. Looking to snap a three-year losing streak, PlanetUSA took leads of 3-1 and 7-5, but the Canadian All-Stars scored the final five goals to post a 10-7 win.

Utah's Jon Sim, with two goals and an assist, was named the game's MVP. Hershey's Charlie Stephens and Milwaukee's Darren Haydar also recorded three points apiece, as did Philadelphia's John Slaney, who became the all-time leading scorer in AHL All-Star Game history with eight career points. Binghamton's rookie goaltender Ray Emery stopped all nine shots he faced in the third period to earn the win in net.

HISTORY OF THE AHL ALL-STAR CLASSIC

2004 Pepsi AHL All-Star Classic
February 8-9, 2004 – Van Andel Arena – Grand Rapids, Mich.
PlanetUSA AHL All-Stars 18, Canadian AHL All-Stars 9 (Skills)
Canadian AHL All-Stars 9, PlanetUSA AHL All-Stars 5 (Game)

Grand Rapids became the westernmost city to host an AHL All-Star event as the stars rose at Van Andel Arena in 2004. The Canadians entered the Classic looking to continue its domination of the two-day gathering.

Michigan native Ryan Miller was brilliant in the Skills Competition, stopping 22 of the 25 attempts he faced on the evening and leading PlanetUSA to an 18-9 win. But the festivities were clouded by injuries: Chicago's Kari Lehtonen, suffering the after-effects of a concussion, opted not to risk further harm and stayed on the bench. Nathan Robinson of the hometown Griffins took a spill during the fastest skater event. And Portland's Rastislav Stana suffered a shoulder injury and withdrew from Monday's game.

With two goaltenders out of action, Springfield's David LeNeveu, who was Canada's top goalie in the Skills Competition, made an unprecedented switch of locker rooms and joined PlanetUSA for the All-Star Game.

The Canadians never trailed in pursuit of their fifth consecutive All-Star victory, and blew the game open with five goals in the second period, thanks in large part to a goal and two assists from game MVP Mike Zigomanis of Lowell. Hartford's Chad Wiseman and Hamilton's Benoit Gratton also recorded three points and rookie defenseman Aaron Johnson of Syracuse scored twice. Wilkes-Barre/Scranton's Matt Murley picked up two goals and an assist to lead PlanetUSA.

With 22 saves in 29 minutes of work, Binghamton's Ray Emery earned the win in net for the Canadians, becoming just the second goaltender ever to post two career All-Star Game victories.

HISTORY OF THE AHL ALL-STAR CLASSIC

2005 Dodge AHL All-Star Classic

PlanetUSA AHL All-Stars 17, Canadian AHL All-Stars 13 (Skills)
PlanetUSA AHL All-Stars 5, Canadian AHL All-Stars 4 (SO) (Game)

With the National Hockey League still in the midst of a lockout, the 2005 Dodge AHL All-Star Classic became arguably the most talent-rich event in AHL history. The Canadian AHL All-Stars came to Manchester on a five-year winning streak in the All-Star Game, but PlanetUSA set the tone early that this Classic would be a different story.

Norfolk Admirals rookie Rene Bourque hit the post on his first attempt in the hardest shot contest, then came back to register 99.8 mph on the clock for the Canadians, and Jason Spezza of Binghamton won the individual puck control relay for the second time in his career, but it would not prove to be enough for the Canadians in the Skills Competition. Providence Bruins forward Andy Hilbert, in his third AHL All-Star Classic for PlanetUSA, recorded the AHL's first-ever perfect performance in the accuracy shooting event, breaking four targets in four shots. Hamilton's Tomas Plekanec captured the fastest skater title with a time of 14.196 seconds. And Rochester's Ryan Miller dominated the goaltending competition for the second year in a row, stopping 15 of 19 shots on the evening to lead PlanetUSA to a 17-13 victory, their fourth Skills win in six years.

The Canadians took early control of the All-Star Game the next night, scoring four times in the first period. Michel Ouellet of Wilkes-Barre/Scranton recorded a goal and an assist during the outburst and Hershey's Eric Perrin tallied the first All-Star shorthanded goal since 1959. But PlanetUSA stormed back, with Houston Aeros rookie Mikko Koivu tying the score at 4-4 midway through the third period. Still tied after regulation, the game went directly to a shootout, where Ryan Miller denied Jason Spezza, Kyle Wellwood and Chuck Kobasew while PlanetUSA shooters went 3-for-3 against Manchester's Mathieu Garon. It was the third shootout win for PlanetUSA in All-Star history.

The American Hockey League's showcase event headed to Winnipeg in 2006 and the new MTS Centre, where the largest crowds ever for an AHL All-Star Classic watched the Canadian team sweep away its PlanetUSA counterparts.

Portland Pirates rookie Ryan Shannon got the PlanetUSA AHL All-Stars off to a quick start in the 2006 CCM AHL All-Star Skills Competition, winning the individual heat of the puck control relay as well as the fastest skater event. But the Canadians soon took control thanks to goaltender Wade Flaherty of the hometown Manitoba Moose. Flaherty was brilliant in stopping 16 of 19 shots on the evening, including a 6-for-6 effort in the breakaway relay, the first perfect performance by a goalie in that event since 1999. Donald MacLean took the hardest shot event with a blast clocked at 98.0 mph, and the Canadians were on their way to a 21-12 victory to end a two-year losing skid in the Skills Competition.

PlanetUSA took an early lead in the All-Star Game the next night, with rookie phenom Patrick O'Sullivan of the Houston Aeros celebrating his 21st birthday with a goal. But the Canadian club roared back with seven consecutive scores of their own, one shy of the All-Star record, to take a 7-1 lead late in the second period. A late surge by PlanetUSA was snuffed out when Donald MacLean and Martin St. Pierre each scored his second goal of the night, and the Canadians closed out a 9-4 victory.

After claiming top goaltender honors in the Skills Competition, Wade Flaherty again thrilled the capacity crowd of 15,015 in Winnipeg and shared game MVP honors with Yann Danis of the Hamilton Bulldogs. Both netminders stopped 12 of 13 shots in their 20 minutes of work for Canada.

Canada's largest city played host to the American Hockey League's biggest show as the All-Star Classic took place at Ricoh Coliseum in Toronto, but the partisan Canadian crowd saw its team swept in the two-day event for the second time in three years.

Dustin Byfuglien won the hardest shot contest with a blast clocked at 98.7 miles per hour, becoming the third member of the Norfolk Admirals in four years to win the event. Erik Westrum of the hometown Toronto Marlies won the individual puck control relay and the Springfield Falcons' Karri Ramo was named the winner of the Top Goaltender award after stopping 15 of 19 Canadian shots.

Rochester's Clarke MacArthur took the accuracy shooting competition by hitting four targets in five attempts and Wilkes-Barre/Scranton's Jonathan Filewich recorded a time of 14.553 seconds to claim the fastest skater prize.

Despite falling into an early 2-0 hole, the Canadians took a 5-2 lead into the late stages of the second period and appeared to be on their way to a split of the two-day Classic. But PlanetUSA rallied twice to tie the game at 6-6, then got a goal from Hartford Wolf Pack rookie Ryan Callahan with just 3.3 seconds remaining to propel the visitors to a thrilling 7-6 victory.

Brett Sterling of the Chicago Wolves, in the middle of one of the most successful rookie seasons in American Hockey League history, capture game MVP honors with two goals and two assists for PlanetUSA.

HISTORY OF THE AHL ALL-STAR CLASSIC

2008 AHL All-Star Classic presented by Reebok

PlanetUSA AHL All-Stars 15, Canadian AHL All-Stars 9 (Skills)
Canadian AHL All-Stars 9, PlanetUSA AHL All-Stars 8 (SO) (Game)

The quaint Broome County Veterans Memorial Arena in Binghamton, N.Y., rocked for two nights as the AHL All-Star Classic came to town.

The Rochester Americans have long been archrivals of Binghamton's AHL clubs, but the Amerks' Mark Mancari won over the crowd in the Skills Competition by hitting 102.8 miles an hour in the hardest shot event, shattering the previous league record. Grand Rapids defenseman Jonathan Ericsson also hit triple digits (100.1), a feat that had only been accomplished once in 12 previous competitions.

Mancari's efforts were not enough for the Canadians, as Albany's Keith Aucoin took the individual puck control relay, Iowa's Toby Petersen claimed the fastest skater title and Manchester's Gabe Gauthier was a perfect 4-for-4 in the accuracy shooting to help PlanetUSA to a 15-9 victory. Milwaukee's Pekka Rinne won the top goaltender award after stopping 16 of 19 shots on the evening.

Monday night's All-Star Game was another highly competitive affair that featured the first penalty shot in AHL All-Star history (a goal by Toby Petersen) and the fastest two goals in event history (eight seconds). It also featured just the fourth hat trick by an AHL All-Star, as Manchester Monarchs rookie Teddy Purcell scored three times.

Bridgeport's Jeff Tambellini capped a comeback with 5:29 left in regulation and Purcell finished off his MVP performance with the decisive shootout goal to give the Canadians a 9-8 victory. It was the eighth time in 14 years that the AHL All-Star Game was decided by a single goal.

The American Hockey League's All-Star festivities came to Massachusetts for the first time since 1959 as the DCU Center and the city of Worcester hosted the 2009 event.

The All-Star Classic opened with a strong showing from both sides in the Skills Competition. The Canadians took the hardest shot event on the strength of Derek Joslin's 98.6-mph blast and Mike Santorelli was a perfect 4-for-4 in the accuracy shooting. But Manitoba's Cory Schneider, a Massachusetts native and Boston College product, was the difference in net, stopping 18 of 19 shots as PlanetUSA rolled to an 18-12 win and its fifth Skills victory in six years.

The All-Star Game made for another record-setting night. Corey Locke of the Houston Aeros became the first player ever to score four goals in an AHL All-Star Game, and 2008 game MVP Teddy Purcell of the Manchester Monarchs recorded five assists on the night to pace the Canadian offense. Derek MacKenzie, Danny Syvret, Kyle Cumiskey, Mark Mancari and Bryan Helmer all had multiple-point performances for Canada as well.

But PlanetUSA erupted for a record nine goals in the third period, turning an 8-5 deficit into a 14-11 win in the highest-scoring AHL All-Star Game in history. Springfield's Ryan Potulny (2g, 4a), Wilkes-Barre/Scranton's Jeff Taffe (3g, 2a) and Providence's Martins Karsums (2g, 3a) all had at least five points on the night, but it was Jared Ross of the Philadelphia Phantoms who grabbed MVP honors, setting event records with six assists and seven points.

The AHL All-Stars returned to Portland, site of the 2003 event, as the 2010 Time Warner Cable AHL All-Star Classic was held at the Cumberland County Civic Center. The Canadian squad was out to end PlanetUSA's three-year winning streak in the Skills Competition, but trailed 5-3 after three events thanks largely to Hartford's Bobby Sanguinetti setting an event record with a time of 13.677 seconds in claiming the fastest skater crown. But Canada boasted both the hardest shot in Norfolk's Blair Jones (100.7 mph) and the accuracy shooting champion in Adirondack's Jon Matsumoto (4-for-5), and rode Reebok Top Goaltender Cedrick Desjardins of Hamilton (16 saves on 19 shots) to an 18-12 victory.

The Canadians needed just 47 seconds to open the scoring in the All-Star Game the next night, but fell behind 5-2 after the first period as Manitoba's Sergei Shirokov and Chicago's Brett Sterling each scored twice in the opening frame. Canada was then down 9-5 before staging the largest third-period comeback in event history as Worcester's Logan Couture (7:48), Binghamton's Ryan Keller (12:30) and Wilkes-Barre/Scranton's Dustin Jeffrey (14:41) cut the deficit to one before Hershey's Alexandre Giroux scored with 18.0 seconds remaining to make it 9-9. Couture and Hamilton rookie defenseman P.K. Subban scored in the shootout while Desjardins stopped four of five attempts to give the Canadians the victory.

Tyler Ennis of the hometown Portland Pirates was named MVP after picking up a goal and two assists, and Hartford's Corey Locke set an All-Star record with his ninth career point.

The format for the AHL All-Star Classic changed in 2011, pitting the East against the West for the first time since the inaugural game in 1942. Hershey hosted the All-Star festivities for the fourth time, but the first at Giant Center.

The two-time defending Calder Cup champion Bears were well represented on their home ice, and defenseman Brian Fahey helped the Eastern Conference's cause in the Skills Competition by taking the hardest shot event with a blast of 96.9 miles per hour. Manchester's Viatcheslav Voynov won the fastest skater contest with a time of 14.197 seconds, Connecticut's Jeremy Williams needed all eight attempts but was the only player to break all four targets in the accuracy shoot, and Wilkes-Barre/Scranton's John Curry stopped 21 of 28 shots to earn Reebok Top Goaltender honors as the East cruised to a 19-7 win.

Hershey's Andrew Gordon got the All-Star Game scoring under way just 16 seconds into Monday's contest – the fastest opening goal in All-Star history – but the East would fall behind 4-1 before rallying for an 11-8 win. Rookies Bobby Butler of Binghamton and Rhett Rakhshani of Bridgeport finished with a goal and three assists each and Gordon and Wilkes-Barre's Robert Bortuzzo each scored twice for the Eastern Conference. Texas Stars forward Francis Wathier paced the Western Conference with a pair of goals, and Rochester's Michal Repik notched a goal and two assists in the loss.

HISTORY OF THE AHL ALL-STAR CLASSIC

2012 AHL All-Star Classic
January 29-30, 2012 – Boardwalk Hall – Atlantic City, N.J.
Western Conference All-Stars 18, Eastern Conference All-Stars 10 (Skills)
Western Conference All-Stars 8, Eastern Conference All-Stars 7 (SO) (Game)

For the first time ever, the AHL's All-Star Classic was played at a non-league site as historic Boardwalk Hall in Atlantic City, N.J., welcomed the game's brightest stars to the Jersey Shore.

After being swept in both ends of the 2011 event, the Western Conference came out looking for a measure of revenge. Ben Bishop of the Peoria Rivermen, who led the AHL with six shutouts at the All-Star break, helped backstop the West to an 18-10 victory in the Skills Competition, stopping 16 of 19 shots to earn the Reebok Top Goaltender accolade. Chicago's Kevin Connauton secured the hardest shot title with a blast clocked at 99.4 miles per hour, and Brian Connelly, representing Abbotsford less than 48 hours after being acquired by the Calgary Flames, won the fastest skater event with a lap timed at 13.851 seconds.

The East came out flying in the All-Star Game, with Connecticut's Jonathan Audy-Marchessault chipping in three points during a six-goal first period. Down 6-2 at the intermission, the West began rallying in the second period, cutting the deficit to 6-5 after Oklahoma City's Yann Danis turned in the first scoreless period by an All-Star goaltender since 2005. Peoria's T.J. Hensick and Chicago's Connauton scored in the third to tie the game at 7-7, and Hensick and Texas rookie Matt Fraser scored in the shootout to lift the Western Conference to victory. Chris Terry of Charlotte led the West offense with two goals and an assist, and Bishop took home MVP honors by stopping 10 of 11 shots in the third period and all four attempts in the shootout.

2013 Dunkin' Donuts AHL All-Star Classic
January 27-28, 2013 – Dunkin' Donuts Center – Providence, R.I.
Western Conference All-Stars 12, Eastern Conference All-Stars 11 (Skills)
Western Conference All-Stars 7, Eastern Conference All-Stars 6 (Game)

For the third time in the event's history – and the first since 1995 – the AHL's all-stars came to Providence, and the thrilling two-day All-Star Classic featured a pair of nail-biting finishes.

The Western Conference's goaltending trio of Barry Brust, Petr Mrazek and Justin Peters combined to stop the last 14 Eastern Conference attempts in the breakaway relay, allowing the West to complete a 12-11 victory after it had trailed 7-2 with three events remaining. Rochester's Brayden McNabb became the fifth player in the history of the Skills Competition to crack triple digits in the hardest shot event (101.8 mph), and Texas's Matt Fraser won the accuracy shooting title by breaking four targets in five tries. In the fastest skater races, Houston's Jason Zucker (13.550 seconds) set an all-time event record, only to be bettered by Portland's Chris Summers (13.324).

In the All-Star Game the next night, Toronto forward Ryan Hamilton completed a hat trick with just 11.2 seconds remaining in regulation to break a tie and send the Western Conference to a 7-6 victory. Hamilton, who was named the game's MVP, scored the West's final three goals of the evening to record the seventh hat trick in All-Star Game history. Mark Arcobello of Oklahoma City recorded three assists and rookies Drew Shore of San Antonio and Zucker of Houston had a goal and an assist for the West, which earned a sweep of the two-day event for the second consecutive year. Chad Kolarik of Wilkes-Barre/Scranton paced the East with two goals, and Springfield's Curtis McElhinney had the game's top goaltending performance with 15 saves on 16 shots in his period of work.

2014 AHL All-Star Classic presented by Assante Wealth Management
February 11-12, 2014 – Mile One Centre – St. John's, N.L.
AHL All-Stars 18, Färjestad BK 17 (OT) (Skills)
AHL All-Stars 7, Färjestad BK 2 (Game)

The AHL All-Star Classic took on an international flavor in 2014 as Färjestad BK, one of the top professional teams in the Swedish Hockey League, took on a team of AHL All-Stars at Mile One Centre in St. John's. The two-day event marked the first time ever that a Swedish team competed in North America.

AHL All-Star captain Jason Jaffray of the hometown St. John's IceCaps played the role of hero in one of the most exciting Skills Competitions to date. Jaffray's goal in the final attempt of the breakaway relay tied the score, and he then converted in the third sudden-death shootout round to give the AHL side an 18-17 win. Färjestad defenseman Magnus Nygren shattered the event record in the hardest shot competition with a blast of 104.6 miles per hour, and shared the accuracy shooting title with Jaffray and Bridgeport's Ryan Strome as all three skaters broke four targets in six tries. The teams split the puck control relay event, highlighted by 16-year-old Färjestad rookie Oliver Kylington outracing AHL scoring leader Travis Morin of Texas in their one-on-one heat. Binghamton's Mike Hoffman won the fastest skater event with a time of 13.990 seconds, and Hamilton's Dustin Tokarski was the CCM Top Goaltender after stopping 16 of 24 shots on the night.

In the All-Star Game, the AHL got three points each from Rockford's Brandon Pirri and Binghamton's Mike Hoffman en route to a 7-2 victory. Pirri, who had won the AHL scoring title in 2012-13, netted two goals and an assist and was named the game's most valuable player; Hoffman was selected as the AHL player of the game, while forward Christian Berglund was named the player of the game for Färjestad. Bridgeport rookie Ryan Strome scored twice for the AHL, and Chicago's Jake Allen and Hamilton's Dustin Tokarski combined to stop 34 of 36 shots in net.

The historic Utica Memorial Auditorium and the Utica Comets served as hosts for an exciting AHL All-Star Classic in 2015.

Colin Miller of the Manchester Monarchs was the brightest star during the Skills Competition, becoming just the second player ever to win both the fastest skater (13.805 seconds) and hardest shot (105.5 mph, an all-time record) events in the same year. Hartford's Chris Bourque was a co-winner of the accuracy shooting contest, an event his father Ray won eight times in the National Hockey League, and Hershey's Philipp Grubauer was the CCM Top Goaltender after stopping 16 shots on 19 attempts on the evening.

Monday saw the highest-scoring All-Star Game in AHL history, with the Western Conference holding on for a 14-12 victory. Hamilton's Charles Hudon, Milwaukee's Brendan Leipsic and Rockford's Mark McNeill all recorded hat tricks for the West, leading a parade of 17 different players who scored a goal on the night. Rockford defenseman T.J. Brennan notched a goal and four assists and Chicago's Ty Rattie added a goal and three assists for the West. Hudon and Utica's Jacob Markstrom, who allowed just two goals on 18 shots in his period of work, shared MVP honors.

The All-Star Classic returned to the Onondaga County War Memorial in Syracuse with an exciting new format in 2016. Following Sunday's Skills Competition, the All-Stars were split into their four divisions for a round-robin All-Star Challenge tournament featuring both 4-on-4 and 3-on-3 play.

Manitoba Moose rookie goaltender Eric Comrie stopped 17 of 19 shots to help the Western Conference to a 19-14 win in the Skills Competition. The CCM Top Goaltender award winner turned aside nine of 10 attempts in the rapid fire event, all three shots in the pass and score and five of six in the breakaway relay. Derek Grant of the Stockton Heat took the fastest skater event (14.307 seconds) and Chicago Wolves forward Pat Cannone hit four targets in five attempts in the accuracy shooting. Hartford Wolf Pack rookie Ryan Graves had the night's hardest shot at 103.4 mph.

Cannone continued to shine in the All-Star Challenge on Monday, posting three goals and an assist and scoring a shootout winner for the Central Division. The Central and Atlantic Division squads both went 2-1-0 in round-robin play to set up a meeting in the championship game, a six-minute contest played entirely at 3-on-3. Michael Leighton of the Rockford IceHogs earned the shutout in a 4-0 victory to give the Central Division the inaugural title. Rockford's Jake Dowell also had three goals and an assist on the night, Grand Rapids' Xavier Ouellet notched two goals and two assists and Lake Erie's T.J. The AHL All-Star Classic headed to the west coast for the first time in 2020, with the Ontario Reign serving as event hosts.

The home crowd was electrified in the Skills Competition by Reign forward Martin Frk, whose blast of 109.2 miles per hour in the hardest shot event shattered the previous AHL record — and also surpassed the NHL mark of 108.8 mph set by Zdeno Chara in 2011. Belleville's Alex Formenton won the fastest skater event with a time of 13.356, the third-fastest in the competition's history, and Charles Hudon of Laval won the accuracy shooting event by hitting four targets in five attempts.

In the All-Star Challenge, Hershey goaltender Vitek Vanecek allowed only two goals over parts of four games to earn MVP honors and help the Atlantic Division to victory, its first title after losing in the championship games in 2016, 2017 and 2019. Binghamton's Joey Anderson led all scorers with seven points (3g, 4a) for the North Division, while SoCal native Matthew Ford of Grand Rapids scored four goals for the Central Division and Ontario defenseman Kale Clague led the Pacific entry with six points (1g, 5a).

Dennis
Bonvie

Widely respected for his competitive spirit and toughness, Dennis Bonvie played 871 games in the AHL over 15 professional seasons. He began his career with Cape Breton in 1993 and participated in the AHL All-Star Game in 1995, scoring the first goal in the modern event's history. After stops in Hamilton, Portland and Philadelphia, Bonvie joined the Wilkes-Barre/Scranton Penguins for their inaugural season in 1999 and quickly became a fan favorite. He moved on to Providence, Binghamton and Hershey before returning to Wilkes-Barre, where he retired in 2008 with 84 goals, 191 assists and a pro hockey record 4,493 penalty minutes for his AHL career.

Gordie
Clark

Gordie Clark spent most of his nine-year playing career in the AHL with Rochester, Springfield and Maine. Drafted by the Boston Bruins in 1972, Clark recorded 64 points in 65 games as a rookie with the Amerks and increased his goal production in each of his four seasons with Rochester. He later won the 1979 Calder Cup championship with Maine and led the league in goals in 1979-80 before putting up 50 goals and 101 points in 1981-82. Voted a postseason AHL All-Star four times in his career, Clark retired in 1983 with 267 goals and 332 assists for 599 points in 540 AHL games.

Gerry Ehman

A prolific AHL scorer during the 1950's and 1960's, Gerry Ehman played 19 seasons of professional hockey, including nearly 1,100 games combined between the AHL and NHL. Some of his early AHL years were spent in St. Louis, Springfield and Hershey, but he is most remembered for his seven seasons in Rochester, a tenure that included six 30-goal performances, a league scoring title and two Calder Cup championships. Ehman was voted a First Team or Second Team AHL All-Star four times in his career, and totaled 311 goals and 365 assists for 676 points in 654 career AHL games.

Roy Sommer

The winningest head coach in AHL history, Roy Sommer spent a quarter of a century running AHL benches, including 24 years as coach of the San Jose Sharks' affiliates in Kentucky, Cleveland, Worcester and San Jose before spending the 2022-23 season in San Diego. The native of Oakland, Calif., won 828 games, captured four division titles and coached in three AHL All-Star Classics in his career, and earned the Louis A.R. Pieri Memorial Award as the AHL's outstanding coach in 2016-17. Sommer also played 10 seasons of professional hockey after being drafted by the Toronto Maple Leafs in 1977, winning a Calder Cup with the Maine Mariners in 1984.
